Dr. Telford had charge of the services, at the Christain church, last night, in the absence of Dr. Carpennight, in the absence of Dr. Carpenter, the pastor, who is attending the Christian Endeavor Union, at Winchester, of which he is president. Dr. Telford, in his sermon brought, a beautiful message to the large audience assembled, laying particular stress ,upon God's care for the individual rather than humanity, and the teaching of Christ, concerning the duty of the strong toward the weak. Dr. J. V. recognized that prosperity follows good roads."

THE high cost of material and the shortage of labor put a premium upon the preservation of present equipment; and for the preservation of good roads a gallon of oil is worth a bushel of labor.

Imperative demands of the war period have prevented adequate road maintenance, improvement and extension. The immense transportation problem of reconstruction requires that the arteries of traffic be kept in good condition.

Roads well oiled last indefinitely. A well-oiled road is impervious to the destructive forces of nature and offers adequate resistance to the wear and tear of heavy traffic.

—Most Women Can Have Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Ohio Physician
Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dult eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as mea take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the suc-

TELLS HOW CALICO DIED A HERO IN FRANCE

His many friends here will be interested in the following story of the hero's death that was the fact of Jesse Calleo, of Paint Lick as recently published in the Lancaster Récord. His father, James A. Calico, of Paint Lick received these letters, which tell the story of such deep interest to his loved ones at home:

story of such deep interest to ones at home:

Jan 1st, 1918

Dear Mr. Calico:—
Your son was in the plateon which brought him directly under my observation, while we were training; also I was in the same tank with him when he loat his life I will therefore undertake to give you the particulars which you so naturallly desire.

I am sure there would have been several letters from his comrades telling, you of all this long helfore now, if it were not forbidden under the censorship.

Corporal Calico was one of the original personnel of the Battalion and his reliability soon made him one of our best soldiers. His officers knew that he was always dependable and the hard work that he put upon his courses while in training made him a most desirable man for any tank crew.

He was fortunate in having for his tank commander. Lt. H. E. Potter, and officer who could thoroughly appreciate him; and the men who made up his crew were much above the average. They all admired your son.

He was the gunner on the six pounder, which is the largest gun on the tank. He went into action in this capacity.

On September 29th, we stacked the Richards of the proper state of the proper state of the proper subnorities, and I forwarded in accordance with regulations, to the proper authorities, and I forwarded in accordance with regulations, to the proper authorities, and I forwarded in accordance with regulations, to the proper authorities, and I forwarded in accordance with regulations, to the proper authorities, and I forwarded in accordance with regulations, to the proper authorities, and I forwarded in accordance with regulations, to the proper authorities, and I forwarded in accordance with regulations, to the proper authorities, and I forwarded in accordance with regulations, to the proper authorities, and I forwarded in accordance with regulations, to the proper authorities, and I forwarded in accordance with regulations, to the proper authorities, and I forwarded in accordance with regulations, to the forwarded in accordance with regul et, which is the largest gun on the tank. He went into action in this capacity.

On September 29th, we attacked the Hindenburg line between Cambria and St. Quentin: in confunction with 7th Division which is from New York. We met with heavy resistance from the start, but Lieut Potter's tank went steadily ahead for about one hour and and a half. It did fine work in clearling the machine gun nests and the fire form your son's gun was responsible for most of this execution. He was very calm all the time and handled his gun in a damirable manner.

If was just after the tank crossed one of the trenches, that it was struck by a shell from an enemy field piece. I was very clos eto your son at the moment and he was in the act of firing. The shell penetrated the tank and exploded in our midst. It wounded or killed every one in the tank. Five of the crew died practically instantly. Your son was one of these. He managed to get a small Bible out of his pocket, but aithough I examined those who were left in the tank, he was lifeless, and I made a search a moment or two after the explosion.

He was burled with the others of the crew near the little French town of Ronssoy.

I sympathize with you in your loss, but it is at least a comfort for you taken when the died bravely in an attack that broke the last hold of the Germans on their famous Hindenburg line. He was one of the best men in the company and both his officers and his comrades deeply regret his death.

Very sincerely.

W. M. ROSBOROUGH, 1st Lt. U. S. T. C. 301st Bn.

Mr. Dear Mr. Calico:

Lieut. Rosborough has written you

Mr. Dear Mr. Calico:

Lieut: Rosborough has written you full details of your son's death, for he was with him at the time. Permit me to add my heartfelt sympathy, as well as that of all the officers and men of this company.

Corporal Calico wes liked and respected by both his officers and fellow soldiers for his reliability and clean manliness—and he was a distinct loss to the organization.

His going was as I know he would have wished it, in battle well behind the enemy-lines. When we found him he was still by the gun he had used so galiantly with a small Testament clasped in his hands.

Attention Farmers

This is a splendid chance for farmers to take stock on their harvesting and having machines, or any others they will use during the year. Look each one over and note carefully any part that may need replacement. A little later you will be pressed for time and then a thorough examination will be almost impossible.

The repair problem will be much simplified by this method. While we have always tried to meet promptly every call of this kind, realizing how valuable your time is, having this advance information will aid us very much in making our service complete.

A list of your possible requirements will enable us to check up our stock of repairs to see that not a single part you might need is missing.

> We want to cut to a minimum the time between the need of a repair part and its supply. This you can help us do by giving us this list at once.

Are You Getting Your Share of Profit From Our Special Prices?

There's plenty of profit to be had; profit we might reap ourselves if we held on to our stock. But we'd rather sell now, share with you and take our extra profit in the new friends made for the store.

Here are the facts about these special prices: The merchandise is the best we could procure; we made our purchases early and in big quantities. We have suits and overcoats in all styles and sizes, Hart Schaffner & Marx make; hats, furnishings, shoes, all of the same high grade.

And we have marked our prices way down, so low that they look like before the war prices. You can buy everything you need for spring; you can save as much as you want. Decide now how much that's going to be.
